This project has taken a lot of my energy over the past few years, and I am thrilled it is finally coming together. — [2] —.

Questions 172-175 refer to the following article.

MCAC to Exhibit Alonso's Works

MAURELY CITY (August 29)—Using recycled materials has become popular with artists, and local sculptor Ida Alonso has happily embraced this trend. Her new exhibition, Throwaways into Treasure, runs from today until November 4 at the Maurely City Art Center (MCAC). Ms. Alonso had the idea for the project while reading about recycled plastic being made into park benches in the Journal for Professional Landscape Architects. She then began to collect old plastic bottles and cardboard shipping boxes and innovatively combined them with commercially made, recyclable building materials.

For the exhibition, Ms. Alonso has created a life-size imitation of commercial offices, with cubicles and partitions made from recovered materials. "By means of my synthetic office space, I am hoping to highlight the idea that old, unwanted objects can take on a new purpose," Ms. Alonso said. Guests who attend the art show will have the opportunity to bring in their own recyclable plastic items and place them in large collection bags set up around the perimeter of the exhibition room. Ms. Alonso also plans to add more recyclable material to her installation as the show progresses.

Although MCAC will be the only venue for Ms. Alonso's show, the exhibition is expected to travel in a different sense. On the exhibition's final day, the works will be dismantled, and all the recyclable materials, including the items brought by visitors, will be transported to a Flyner Industries facility, where they will be shredded and transformed into material for waterproof curtains.

MCAC is open daily from 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Admission to the art center is free. In addition to Ms. Alonso's show, works by several local art students will be on view in MCAC's main gallery.

Freewheel Oasis offers two programs that make selling your bicycle easier: trade-in and consignment. If you select our trade-in program, you give us your bicycle, and, in exchange, we give you credit toward the purchase of a new one. If you opt for our consignment program, we will sell your bicycle for you.

To take advantage of either option, e-mail us at programs@freewheeloasis.com to schedule an appointment. In your e-mail, you should also indicate whether you wish to trade in your bicycle or place it on consignment. You will receive a response from our customer service manager. We take appointments during regular business hours, Monday through Saturday from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

When you come in for your appointment, a technician will assess the condition of your bicycle, and a sales associate will determine its current value. If the value specified is acceptable to you and you wish to trade in your bicycle, we deduct that amount from the purchase price of your new bicycle. If you prefer a consignment arrangement, we will sell your bicycle for the agreed-upon amount. Note that we will withhold a service fee equal to 15 percent of this amount at the time your bicycle is sold, while the rest of the earnings will be sent to you.

Also, I recently accepted a job in Kuwait and will be leaving on November 30. Do you expect that the bicycle will be sold by then? If not, how can I receive my portion of the selling price?

Dear Ms. Kuroda,

We still need a few things for your personnel file. At the training for new hires this morning, we provided you with a checklist of the documents that we need to have on file. For your reference, I've attached a scanned copy of your checklist to this e-mail.

First, our security office requires proof of your identity. Employees usually submit a copy of their driver's license (front and back) or the personal information page from their passport, but any official government identification is acceptable. We also require your banking information to set up the electronic transfer of your salary to your account.

The final item on the list will only be needed if you join the company softball team. Do you play? Our company team participates in a league, and it's a great way to build rapport with the people you will be working alongside. The season is just beginning. I can send you details if you're interested.

Finally, I want to encourage you to attend the company picnic, which is always held on the third Friday in May at Briarwood Park. It's an opportunity to interact with your coworkers in an informal, nonworking environment. It's always well attended.

If you have any questions, contact me and we can schedule a chat.

Hello Mr. Cady,

Thank you for your e-mail. I am excited about starting work. And thanks, too, for sending a copy of the checklist I received in the orientation session. I don't drive, so I don't have a driver's license, but I can provide a copy of the page from my passport. I am about to gather the necessary information for the fourth item on the list. I will bring everything to the office on Monday.

I'll have to think about whether I want to join the company softball team. How much of a time commitment is it? I played softball in college. I wasn't very good, but I did enjoy playing.

The company picnic sounds like fun. I love Briarwood Park and look forward to the opportunity to get to know my coworkers better. If employees bring dishes for the picnic, I'd be happy to make something. Or is the food being provided by a caterer?

Thanks again for your support.
